

A Dialogue for Peace and Justice

November 10, 2001 6:30 PM

Come to a community-wide forum on Saturday November 10, 6:30-9p. Speakers will be presenting their different perspectives and current thoughts on peace and justice, followed by 45 minutes of conversation in small groups, and a regrouping to share. In addition to being a venue for education, we'll have an opportunity to build bridges and meet people in a variety of area organizations. More details are available on the Peace Calendar (www.trianglevegsociety.org/peacecalendar) and event's web page (below), or call 919-260-6119. (Complimentary food & drink!)

Co-sponsored by NC Society for Ethical Culture, Triangle Vegetarian Society, NC Peace Action, Peace 1st, US Servas, Durham Friends Meeting (Quakers), Local Spiritual of the Baha'is of Durham City, Jain Study Center of NC, Wake County Greens, Orange County Greens, Durham People's Alliance, and St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Speakers: Patrick O'Neill, Catholic Worker; Donna Hicks, Episcopalian Peace Fellowship; Chris Newlon, progressive realist, & Rudolf Zarzar, Prof. Pol. Sci., Elon College.

We will be at the parish hall of St. Philip's Episcopal Church, 403 E. Main St., Durham; enter from the door facing Queen St. From I-85, exit Durham downtown and proceed to the 5th traffic light, then turn left on Chapel Hill St. (which becomes Liberty St.). Go through the traffic light at Roxboro St. then take the next right at Queen St. The Church is one block ahead at the corner of Queen and Main Sts. From the Durham Freeway, exit at Roxboro Rd. and turn north toward downtown. Pass under a railroad overpass, then turn right at the next traffic light, Main Street. The Church is one block ahead at the corner of Queen and Main Sts. From Chapel Hill, take 15/501 N toward South Square Mall and stay on 15/501 Business when 15/501 Bypass branches off. You'll come to a T, and should turn left onto University Drive. Go 1.6 miles to a light and turn left onto S. Roxboro Rd. Go .5 miles and turn right at a light onto Main Street; the church is just ahead at Main and Queen Sts. From Raleigh, take route 40 west to the Durham Expressway north, then follow directions from the freeway.

www.trianglevegsociety.org/nov2001conversation

A Dialogue for Peace and Justice

November 10, 2001 6:30 PM

Come to a community-wide forum on Saturday November 10, 6:30-9p. Speakers will be presenting their different perspectives and current thoughts on peace and justice, followed by 45 minutes of conversation in small groups, and a regrouping to share. In addition to being a venue for education, we'll have an opportunity to build bridges and meet people in a variety of area organizations. More details are available on the Peace Calendar (www.trianglevegsociety.org/peacecalendar) and event's web page (below), or call 919-260-6119. (Complimentary food & drink!)

Co-sponsored by NC Society for Ethical Culture, Triangle Vegetarian Society, NC Peace Action, Peace 1st, US Servas, Durham Friends Meeting (Quakers), Local Spiritual of the Baha'is of Durham City, Jain Study Center of NC, Wake County Greens, Orange County Greens, Durham People's Alliance, & St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Speakers: Patrick O'Neill, Catholic Worker; Donna Hicks, Episcopalian Peace Fellowship; Chris Newlon, progressive realist, & Rudolf Zarzar, Prof. Pol. Sci., Elon College.

We will be at the parish hall of St. Philip's Episcopal Church, 403 E. Main St., Durham; enter from the door facing Queen St. From I-85, exit Durham downtown and proceed to the 5th traffic light, then turn left on Chapel Hill St. (which becomes Liberty St.). Go through the traffic light at Roxboro St. then take the next right at Queen St. The Church is one block ahead at the corner of Queen and Main Sts. From the Durham Freeway, exit at Roxboro Rd. and turn north toward downtown. Pass under a railroad overpass, then turn right at the next traffic light, Main Street. The Church is one block ahead at the corner of Queen and Main Sts. From Chapel Hill, take 15/501 N toward South Square Mall and stay on 15/501 Business when 15/501 Bypass branches off. You'll come to a T, and should turn left onto University Drive. Go 1.6 miles to a light and turn left onto S. Roxboro Rd. Go .5 miles and turn right at a light onto Main Street; the church is just ahead at Main and Queen Sts. From Raleigh, take route 40 west to the Durham Expressway north, then follow directions from the freeway.

www.trianglevegsociety.org/nov2001conversation